Story Summary: In this Greek myth, Persephone, daughter of Demeter, the goddess of the earth, is carried off by Hades, god of the underworld, to be his bride. Demeter searches everywhere for her daughter, and her grief causes winter to fall over the earth. Finally Persephone's return to earth brings the springtime, but she must regularly return to the underworld because while she was down there she ate in the land of the dead. Each year when Persephone returns to the underworld, winter spreads over the earth. When she returns to her mother, she brings spring with her.
